Our staff and our community partners Bloomberg and Educational Testing Service (ETS) know that education can be so much more than numbers on a page, letters in a book, or words in a lecture. Education happens when ideas come alive; when thoughts connect with experiences; when creativity is given room to grow. That is why Bloomberg and ETS have partnered with CHSofNJ as Corporate Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) Volunteer Partners for our 21st Century Community Learning Center Positive Impact Program, a federally funded after-school program in collaboration with Trenton Public Schools.

21st Century is a free, after-school program provided by CHSofNJ in Grace A. Dunn Middle School and Joyce Kilmer Middle School. All students are invited to enroll, regardless of academic ability, English proficiency, or behavioral needs. In addition to literacy, study skills, college preparation, character development, visual and performing arts, sports, health and fitness, the program concentrates on STEM education.

Our students have been inspired by some of ETS and Bloomberg's brightest employees, and gained hands-on experience in the most cutting edge information technology and science. Stephen Brown, a student from Joyce Kilmer Middle School, showed such remarkable promise that he was invited to participate in a seven-week Bloomberg Startup Internship in their Research and Development (R&D) Department. Bloomberg Startup is the company's global education engagement program, leveraging the company's history as a startup and unique expertise as a technology company to support academic achievement for youth. For five hours a day, twice a week, Stephen worked closely with Bloomberg's R&D team, refining his skills in a number of computer programs and mobile applications. Will Roney of Bloomberg's R&D team enjoyed working with Stephan, saying, "He's very eager to learn everything he can."

Often, our students tell our 21st Century Program Director Louise McCants Shabazz of their plans to major in Engineering in college, or their determination to become a doctor one day; the confidence students need to visualize and achieve their dreams comes from experiences like those of our 21st Century program. We are proud to work with Bloomberg, ETS, and the Trenton Public School District to help Trenton youth receive a comprehensive and fun education, and become all that they dream to be.
CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR NEW BOARD CHAIR AND VICE PRESIDENT OF FISCAL AFFAIRS

CHSoFNJ is proud to announce that Trustee Timothy Ryan has accepted the position of Board Chair, effective June 2015. Over the past 15 years, Mr. Ryan has held various positions on our Board including Chair of the Investment Committee (2007 – 2015) and Vice President of Fiscal Affairs (2014 – 2015), guiding the agency in sound financial planning and decisions. Mr. Ryan has also served as 2011 Gala chair, along with his wife Mary Anne and their children.

Mr. Ryan has worked for Merrill Lynch/Bank of America for 30 years, holding positions in Finance, COO and Audit. His extensive finance business knowledge plus personal commitment to helping those less fortunate make Mr. Ryan a key member of our Board. We are looking forward to all we will accomplish under his dynamic leadership.

Since becoming a Trustee in 2005, Kati Chupa has held a number of key positions within the Board, including Strategic Planning Chair (2008-2011 and 2014-2015), Vice President of Policy (2008-2011), and 2014 Gala Chair. As of June 2015, Mrs. Chupa has stepped down from successfully leading the agency through tremendous growth and infrastructure strengthening as Board Chair (2011-2015) to now serve as Vice President of Fiscal Affairs. In her new role, Mrs. Chupa will continue to share her talents for management and corporate finance to help the agency make wise choices and effectively plan for the future.

Mrs. Chupa is an accomplished international healthcare executive with a broad background in global franchise management, strategic planning, business development, and finance. Following a distinguished 26 year tenure, Mrs. Chupa retired from Johnson & Johnson in 2013. Through her private consulting business, she now works with various corporations while actively supporting CHSoFNJ’s mission. Her knowledge, skills, and dedication to helping at-risk children and families succeed make her an extraordinary asset to our agency and the community as a whole.

CONNECTING FAMILIES WITH SPECIAL NEEDS TO VITAL COMMUNITY RESOURCES

CHSoFNJ’s Early Head Start Home-Based Program welcomed local children, parents, families, and caregivers to its 5th Annual Early Childhood Disabilities and Health Resource Fair on August 8, 2015. As the only event of its kind in Mercer County, the Resource Fair has proven a tremendous asset for CHSoFNJ’s Head Start/Early Head Start programs and the greater community. Attendance was tripled from last year, with 275 guests exploring over 25 vendor tables at South River Walk Park in Trenton, learning about the many resources available for local children, teens, and adults with disabilities or suspected disabilities.
Our South Ward Family Success Center (SWFSC) enriches the lives of children and adults in the community by strengthening the family unit and the neighborhood as a whole. Parents, children, grandparents and caregivers are welcome in this warm community gathering place to find family support, information, resources and services. Many come to the SWFSC as strangers, but all leave as friends. Some are so touched by the center’s mission that they return as volunteers to help others find the support and companionship they found. Such was the case for three bright young women who decided to volunteer for our Youth Advisory Committee (YAC); Adrianna Robles, Nydesia Montañez and Keisha Sonpon.

The YAC was created to develop and empower teens to become leaders within their community. The group meets for activity driven meetings and events that create opportunities to speak intimately with other teens about important life issues they may be dealing with, such as college preparation, healthy relationships, and bullying. Adrianna, Nydesia and Keisha were inspired by the mission of the program, and excited to help their peers answer questions and confront subjects that matter to them.

Beyond helping other teens, the girls’ involvement in the YAC has helped them identify their own strengths and passions, and motivated them to focus on behaviors and choices that would turn their dreams into reality. All three young ladies excelled in high school, and after their recent graduations excitedly began the start of their college careers. Adrianna received two scholarships for Notre Dame de Namur University, where she plans to major in Biology and English. Nydesia was accepted to Centenary College, where she will major in Pre-Veterinary Medicine. Keisha has accepted a scholarship to New Jersey Institute of Technology (NJIT), where she will major in Engineering Science.

These young ladies and role models are wonderful examples of how peer mentoring groups like our SWFSC Youth Advisory Committee encourage and celebrate greatness in our teens. “Our Youth Advisory Council helps teens arrive at positive decisions organically, which for many teens seems to stick more than well-intended advice from adults,” said Family Success Center Supervisor Arleen Jacoby. The confidence that comes from making wise choices on your own spills into every aspect of life, empowering you to speak your mind and follow your heart; just ask Adrianna, who told us her favorite take away from her time on our Youth Advisory Committee was, “Don’t be afraid to be loud!”

Your Designated United Way donations to CHS can help our CHSofNJ children!
Trenton Education Dance Institute (TEDI), a program based on the methods of National Dance Institute, teaches students important life skills such as confidence, self-discipline, focus, respect, and pride in personal achievement. The benefits of these skills, as well as the health benefits of such a physical dance program are clear. What may not be as apparent are the program’s many educational advantages! TEDI enhances learning through a specialized curriculum designed to complement classroom lessons; our dancers can relate calculations learned in math class to the step-count of their favorite dance, or use vocabulary words learned in English class when writing in their TEDI journal.

Our 2014-2015 school year TEDI curriculum incorporated lessons in geography, language, and history. TEDI’s 2015 Event of the Year performance, I Hear Music in the Air, shared music and dance from around the world as it was recreated by nearly 200 Trenton students. More than just a performance, TEDI’s 2015 Event of the Year was a cultural experience that fostered an appreciation of diversity and rich cultural traditions. The original production was choreographed by Artistic Director Nicholas Rodriguez, with the exception of two special dances conceptualized and choreographed by TEDI Celebration students. JDKPROPHOTO and Dr. Len Feldman of CHSofNJ documented the evening through exceptional photography, and Bill Drummer Productions captured the spirit of the show through outstanding videography.

Following the performance, volunteers from Bloomberg and Kohl’s (Hamilton and Princeton stores) helped guests make their way to a VIP reception fundraiser with dinner catered by Café Capuano and dessert by Italian Peoples Bakery. There, graduating TEDI seniors were moved to tears as they spoke candidly about the TEDI program and the profound impact it has had on their lives. TEDI challenges students’ physical abilities, builds their self-esteem, and creates a memorable experience that makes education come alive. Guests that evening saw the enthusiasm and dedication of our dancers, heard the sincerity of our graduating seniors, and felt proud to support a program that has so greatly enriched Trenton children’s lives for over 23 years.

ATTENTION BIRTH PARENTS & ADULT ADOPTEES

As of January 2017, public law (PL14-Chapter 9) allows adult adoptees at least eighteen years of age to access their original birth certificate through the Bureau of Vital Statistics. A birth parent whose child’s adoption was finalized prior to August 1, 2015 may choose to redact their name from the original birth certificate by filing a request through the office of the Registrar before December 31, 2016. A birth parent whose child’s adoption was finalized after August 1, 2015 cannot be redacted, and the original long form birth certificate will be released to the adult adoptee. Birth parents may also submit a contact preference form and update family background or medical history beginning July 1, 2015.

To read the law in its entirety, visit http://www.njleg.state.nj.us/2014/Bills/PL14/9_.PDF. To learn more about accessing your original birth certificate, or to access the necessary forms for redaction and contact preference, visit http://www.state.nj.us/health/vital/faq.shtml.

As always, CHSofNJ is here to assist you in your search and reunion journey. Learn more about our Background and Search services in the Post Adoption Counseling section of our Programs and Services page at www.chsofnj.org.

For the 9th year in a row, Driscoll’s and Wegmans have sponsored our sweetest fundraiser; Strawberry Days! This year, the event was expanded to include six Wegmans stores in Eastern Pennsylvania. For each carton of Driscoll’s strawberries sold at participating stores during the three-day promotion, Driscoll’s pledged fifty-cents to CHSofNJ. Thanks to the extraordinary participation of friends like you and the generosity of these wonderful corporate partners, Driscoll’s has donated $20,000 to help our most vulnerable babies!
Thousands of our children and families will find safety, stability, health and happiness this year thanks to the generous support and participation of CHSoF NJ friends, staff, community partners, and donors at our 121st Anniversary Gala! The Board-hosted event, chaired by Trustee Jennifer Pizi, raised over $85,000 for the life-saving programs and services we provide, and attendees had a wonderful time as they contributed to our cause. Guests discussed the fascinating art on display at our venue, Grounds For Sculpture, and bid on dozens of coveted silent auction prizes, from local restaurant gift cards to luxurious international vacations, before moving to the dining room for the return of our exciting live auction and a delicious dinner catered by Rat's Restaurant. Trustee and Vice President of Community Relations Cordelia Staton served as the evening’s charismatic emcee, and her charm perfectly complemented that of Auctioneer Chris Wise of Rago Auctions. Together, they created a fun and lively atmosphere that guests truly enjoyed.

NJM Insurance Group was honored as CHSoF NJ’s 2015 “Champion of Children” in recognition of its remarkable dedication to our community, children, and families. NJM Insurance Group’s Vice President of Public Affairs Mike Van Wagner graciously accepted the award on behalf of the company, which has been a valued partner in our mission of saving children’s lives and building healthy families for 23 years.

The critical funds raised through our annual Gala directly impact the lives of our community’s most vulnerable infants and children, and we have so many wonderful friends to thank for the success of our event. We thank My Divine Music for providing entertainment during the cocktail hour, and DJ Rock ‘N Ron for setting the mood for the dinner and program portion of our event. We would also like to thank Bill Drummer Productions for once again providing expert Audio/Video services, and photographers Jamie Escarpeta and Dierdra Ryan of Escarpeta PhotoGraphics for capturing such beautiful memories. The gorgeous centerpieces created by the talented team at SocialLife created a warm and inviting atmosphere, and the event came alive thanks to and the dedicated team of volunteers from local businesses and organizations that worked so hard to help ensure a fantastic evening. Lastly, whether it was through a charitable donation, ticket purchase, bidding in our new mobile silent auction, or simply sharing information about the agency with friends and family, CHSoF NJ thanks you for helping make a difference in so many lives.
